

April 11, 2014

To: Keysight Technologies Customers

Subject: ISO 9001:2008 Certification

On September 19, 2013, Agilent announced plans to separate into two publicly traded companies through a spinoff of its Electronic Measurement Group (EMG). The new name for EMG will be Keysight Technologies, Inc. Keysight expects to begin conducting business under its new name on August 1, 2014.

DEKRA first certified Agilent's EMG to ISO 9001 in November 2003 and will remain the ISO registrar of record. Because the ISO 9001 certificate is a legal document, DEKRA cannot issue an ISO 9001:2008 certificate to Keysight Technologies until August 1, 2014.

This letter is to attest that Agilent's EMG/Keysight Technologies meets all the quality management system requirements of ISO 9001:2008 and remains in good standing (Cert Number: 510999.000 and is valid until November 18, 2015). In early August 2014, DEKRA will issue an updated ISO 9001 certificate covering the same scope and locations to:

Keysight Technologies, Inc.
1400 Fountaingrove Parkway
Santa Rosa, California, 95403, USA
Cert Number: 510999.000

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads 'Michelle Hunn'.

Michelle Hunn
Vice President
DEKRA Certification, Inc.